LNG Panel Discussion

FLORIDA GAS UTILITY

Is The US better off to export its abundant natural gas supplies in the form of LNG or to reserve it for its own domestic purposes?

Considerations

- Will the export of LNG positively affect the US economy?
- Will the export of LNG increase the price of manufactured products and energy to the American consumer?
- Will exporting of LNG increase domestic drilling and hydraulic fracturing and adversely impact the environment?

Considerations

- Would limiting LNG exports adversely affect natural gas drilling and create artificial NG shortages?
- Will exporting of LNG positively or negatively impact US foreign relations? What are the geopolitical implications?
- Transfer of wealth (who are the winners and losers)

Panelists

- Erica Bowman, VP and Chief Economist, America's Natural Gas Alliance (ANGA) – represents the pro export LNG position
- Dave Schryver, Executive VP APGA – Anti export LNG position
- Robert Adley, Louisiana state senator (district 36) President of Aldey Consultants – government policy point of view
